THE ST. IGNATIUS LEGACY SOCIETY

At this gathering of our St. Ignatius Legacy Society, we remember and celebrate the hundreds of outstanding legacy gifts the university has received, including the Jim and Jane Strenski Scholarship.

As first-generation students from families of modest means, Jim and Jane (Wambach) Strenski appreciate the value of an education and what it's like to struggle to pay for college. Thus, they made it a priority to help kids from disadvantaged backgrounds get an education — from middle school through college.

Jane and Jim Strenski with Savannah Pederson

Jim and Jane enrolled at Marquette in 1948. Both had to work through college. In high school, Jim drove a beer truck to pay for his education, so this was nothing new to him. Jane worked as a hat check girl at Boston Store. They graduated in 1952 — Jim with a degree in public relations/advertising and Jane with a degree in medical technology — and were married in 1954.

Jim served in the Navy for four years. When his stint ended, he and Jane settled near Chicago, where he built a successful career with Attitudes, Inc., before founding Public Communications, Inc., a PR firm, in 1962. Beyond his career, Jim was committed to social justice and was active in the civil rights movement. He carried that commitment with him when he and Jane relocated to Tampa, Florida.

While in Florida, the Strenskis acted on their commitment to Catholic education and helping inner-city kids. They established financial assistance programs at Academy Prep School and Tampa Jesuit High School. In gratitude for the way Marquette shaped them personally, professionally and spiritually, they also endowed a scholarship fund at Marquette in 2002 to help financially disadvantaged students. Because of this scholarship, St. Ignatius Legacy Society members Jim and Jane will always be remembered within the Marquette community.

We wish to thank members of the St. Ignatius Legacy Society, who have made an enduring imprint on Marquette through their generosity and love of the university. Your commitment serves as a profound vote of confidence in our mission of educating men and women for others and preserves the tradition of excellence at Marquette for years to come.

Welcome to the new St. Ignatius Legacy Society Members (September 2010 to September 2011)
